Global Economy, US Energy Forecast, and Energy Security Featured Topics at the NAESCO 30th Annual Conference & Vendor Showcase, November 12-14, Orlando, Florida

The National Association of Energy Service Companies (NAESCO) is pleased to announce its lineup of speakers for its 30th Annual Conference & Vendor Showcase, focused on the theme "Charting the Future Course of Energy Efficiency"

Kenneth Simonson, conference keynote speaker, is set to address the global economic outlook for the next 12-36 months, with a focus on U.S. growth and investment. Mr. Simonson is Chief Economist with the Associated General Contractors of America and serves as president of the National Association of Business Economists.

Gregory Aliff will speak about the impact on U.S. energy policies of the competing assumptions and forecasts about the supply and costs of fossil fuels, the viability of energy independence, economic growth, and the environmental impact of fossil fuel extraction choices. Mr. Aliff is Vice Chairman and Senior Partner, Energy & Resources, Deloitte LLP, serving as the Firm's U.S. Energy & Resources Leader.

William Anderson will talk about the need to strengthen U.S. energy security and how that might be accomplished through adoption of a broader and more diverse energy portfolio. Mr. Anderson is currently Strategic Development Executive at Eaton Corporation. Prior to his work in the private sector, Mr. Anderson served as Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Air Force for Installations, Environment & Logistics, and as the Air Force's Senior Energy Executive.

Terry E. Singer, Executive Director of NAESCO said “We are very pleased to present a powerful roster of speakers at NAESCO’s 30th Annual Conference & Vendor Showcase, all of whom bring unique perspectives on the broad range of global issues directly affecting the evolution of energy policy in general and the role of energy efficiency providers in particular.”

NAESCO also welcomes as speakers:
